Quilters' Conference & Showcase

Show Guide

Director's Message

Last February, my oldest son asked me when he could go back to the quilt show. He was so excited, just like my cousins and me when we were kids. We all grew up around this event and saw it grow and change. When I bought Road in 2017, I never imagined we'd be setting up our first show outside our home state.

Our first-ever Road to Virginia Quilters' Conference & Showcase is the culmination of what my family has been working towards since 1991. Just like our flagship California event, Road to Virginia will feature only quilting and related merchandise in the vendor mall. The exhibit hall will have over 100 vendors in about 220 booths.

Over 4 days, we'll have over 75 classes with faculty members from South Africa, the United Kingdom, Switzerland, Norway, and all over the United States. Our education catalogs in both California and Virginia feature some of the most sought-after teachers and classes in the world.

If you're thinking about attending just one of the Road shows, you might want to reconsider. Nearly all the exhibits are different between the two shows, and the class catalogs are completely unique. Don't forget about the vendors - Road2VA will feature vendors mostly from the East, with some of them only vending at Road to Virginia.

I never thought back in 2017 that we'd be starting an all-new event on the other side of the country 8 short years later. But here we are, and we can't wait for the future of the two Road events! My team, family and I are excited to continue sharing the Road experience with all of you for years to come, on both coasts!

Matt Reese
